Drawing on the principles of palliative care, this course offers a comprehensive discussion of the pharmacological management of pain, and outlines strategies to manage common symptoms for palliative patients.

The course will focus on palliative care in the context of patients with dementia bringing together experts in Palliative Medicine, Psychiatry of the Elderly and Gerontology.

Our program aims to enable doctors, nurses and pharmacists to enhance their understanding of an approach to the palliative care of patients with dementia using a multidisciplinary team framework.

The course is delivered in two parts, with an 8 hour online module, followed by an interactive education day. Online content will be available from September.
